RESOLVED: That The Federal Government Should Guarantee an Opportunity for Higher Education to All Qualified High School Graduates.

UNITED STATES MILITARY ACADEMY
WEST POINT, NEW YORK

MAJOR GENERAL JAMES B. LAMPERT, USA Superintendent and President of the Academic Board United States Military Academy

FOREWORD

On behalf of the United States Corps of Cadets and the United States Military Academy, I extend a hearty welcome to the students and faculty of the various colleges and universities in the Eighteenth National Debate Tournament.

In the past years, much of the success of the Tournament has been due to the kind cooperation and assistance of the various faculty debate leaders. They have made possible the selection of the excellent teams which represent their respective regions. To the teams, coaches, and judges, go our warmest welcome.

Aside from the obvious purpose of selecting a champion, the Tournament has the important purpose of stimulating interest in debating and its related educational fields. We hope you will take this opportunity not only to expose yourself to the thoughts of your colleagues, but also to become more familiar with the aims and methods of their institutions, including West Point.

The members of the West Point Debate Council and Forum are your immediate hosts. They join me in welcoming you and expressing the desire that your stay will be both pleasant and profitable.

HISTORY

NATIONAL DEBATE

HISTORY

This spring, thirty-eight of the nation's best debate teams will compete for the highly coveted Sigurd S. Larmon Trophy, symbol of debating excellence and the prize emblematic of the National Collegiate Debating Championship.

This tournament, conducted annually for the past seventeen years, has a dual origin. The accelerated curriculum during the war years of 1941-1945 left little time for extracurricular activities. The close of the war saw the curriculum again expanded to four years, and the debate council reestablished. Chairman Cadet Tom Schwinn arranged for a small regional debate tournament.

The ambition of the cadets and the interest of their collegiate associates probably would never have found form as a National Tournament, however, had it not been for the aid and advice of such officers as General Maxwell D. Taylor, then Superintendent of the Military Academy, and Colonel G. A. Lincoln, the present Professor and Head of the Department of Social Sciences at West Point. The generous support and encouragement these and many other officers gave helped pave the way for the first National Tournament.

Administratively, little has changed in the Tournament's seventeenyear evolution. The Nation is divided into eight Regional Districts and the selection of the Regional Representatives is the responsibility of the member schools in that particular region. In every part of the country, leaders in the debate field give their valuable time to perform the necessary pre-tournament tasks at the district level in order to bring the country's outstanding debate teams together for this event.

The teams representing the finest intercollegiate debating in the country are again gathered at West Point. That the National Debate Tournament is truly national in scope is a testament to the labor of the debate community and to the skill and enthusiasm of the teams and coaches. For this reason, the names of the outstanding district committeemen, participating schools, and debaters are included in this program as an essential part of the history of this tournament.

FINAL RESULTS

The Seventeenth National Debate Tournament was held at the United States Military Academy from 24-27 April inclusive. Thirty-eight teams from the eight mational districts debated eight seeding rounds of strength versus strength pairings the first two days, and the top sixteen teams participated in four elimination rounds on the final day.

Dartmouth College won the National Debate Tournament and became the possessor for one year of the Sigurd S. Larmon Trophy. Debating the affirmative side of the national debate topic, Resolved, That the Non-Communist Nations of The World Should Establish an Economic Community, Dartmouth defeated the University of Minnesota in the final round by a 5-2 vote.

At the Tournament banquet, held after the completion of the eight seeding rounds, General Lauris Norstad, USAF, Retired, Former Supreme Allied Commander, Europe, delivered the principal address. Major General William C. Westmoreland, Superintendent of the United States Military Academy, presented the Lt. George W.P. Walker Memorial Awards of two Hamilton Electric Wrist Watches to the two speakers who had received the highest number of speakers points in the eight seeding rounds; Daniel F. Kolb of Holy Cross, first place, and Robert E. Roberts of Alabama, second place. The members of the two finalist teams, Frank H. Wohl and Steven Kessler of Dartmouth, and Andre Zdrazil and David Krause of Minnesota, each received prize watches, designated the Hamilton Award, following the final debate. These watches were made available through the courtesy of the Hamilton Watch Company, Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

The sixteen teams entering the elimination rounds Saturday were selected on the following basis:

First, on the number of debates won during the seeding rounds. Second, in case of ties, on the number of judges! votes received. Third, if a tie still existed, on total team points.

The top sixteen teams and their seeding round records were:
