

Report on the Golden Anniversary
50th National Debate Tournament

Wake Forest University

March 29 - April 1, 1996

Thomas K. Hearn, Jr.
President

March 28, 1996

The fiftieth National Debate Tournament is a very special occasion at Wake Forest University. During this half century, Wake Forest debaters have been frequent regional and national winners. We are pleased to host this important tournament and to celebrate the achievements of our debate teams over the years.

The skills required for success in debate parallel those needed for achievement in the classroom, in graduate studies, and ultimately in careers. Research and preparation, practice, team work, and the ability to support arguments are all vital factors in scholarship and in the practice of most professions. The effectiveness of training in debate is proved in the experience of many of our former debaters, who are among Wake Forest's most outstanding alumni.

On behalf of the Wake Forest community, I commend Professor Loudon, director of debate, and Mr. Ross Smith, debate coach, as well as our student debaters. We welcome all those who have come to Wake Forest for this historic event.

The National Debate Tournament

THE YEARS AT WEST POINT

In 1947, it was unusual to find debate teams crossing the country or meeting a rival team more than once or twice. Most debate tournaments were local or regional in nature. There was no place where top teams from across the country could compete. The Westpoint National Intercollegiate Tournament was organized and conducted by the United States Military Academy to provide such an experience--where top teams from across the nation could meet. The tournament rules were determined by West Point Administration in consultation with such debate coaches as A. Craig Baird of the University of Iowa, G.M. Musgrave of Des Moines, Alan Nichols of USC, E.R. Nichols of the University of Redlands, and Joseph O'Brien of Pennsylvania State University.

Seven regions were set up to identify top teams, and select 29 colleges to participate in five seeding rounds and four eliminations over a three day period. Some of the features of the tournament stipulated that no school would meet a school within 500 miles of itself during the seeding rounds and that no coach would judge a school from his or her own district. Several traditions started at West Point remain in practice today: the "big board," oral announcement of pairings, and team signs in the rooms.

West Point administered the tournament for the first twenty years of its history. Initially there were no fees; housing and meals were provided by the Academy. For the first few years coaches stayed in the homes of Academy officers. All entertainment facilities on the base were free, except for the Post Theatre, which charged 15¢ a movie (Debaters Magazine, 1947). During these years the tournament was expanded from 29 to 38 teams. After a series of tab room errors, a Committee of coaches was set up to "review" the results of the prelims before elimination rounds began (Parson, "The NDT at Fifty").

THE AMERICAN FORENSIC ASSOCIATION TAKES OVER

The Early Years: 1967-1974

In 1966 West Point Commandant William Westmoreland informed George Ziegelmueller, then President of the American Forensic Association, that the Academy would no longer host the tournament. The reason cited was "budget constraints," and the decision came as a complete surprise to the forensic community. Four coaches, Annabel Hagood of Alabama, Herb James of Dartmouth, William Reynolds of Georgetown and Ziegelmueller of Wayne State formed an interim transition committee, with Hagood and James focusing on the problem of finance.

The early years of the AFA sponsored tournament (1967-1975) were marked by coaches planning, setting guidelines and eligibility rules, searching for a director as well as a tournament site; they were years of change. The first chair of what became the National Debate Tournament Committee was Annabel Hagood, and the first NDT Director, Stan Rives. The initial committee assumption was that it would pick a different director for each year. Following Rives as director were Richard Rieke in 1968 at Brooklyn College, Roger Hufford in 1969 at Northern Illinois, Dave Matheny in 1970 at the University of Houston, and John Lehman in 1971 at Macalester College and again in 1972 at the University of Utah. This period was marked by the development of coaches' responsibility for all aspects of the tournament, which was renamed The National Debate Tournament. Beginning in 1970, it was possible for a school to have two of its teams qualify to the NDT; this occurred after much heated debate (and a fear that some school would "close-out" the NDT which apparently would constitute an embarrassment.)

Districts were reconstituted but remained eight in number until a new district (District IX) representing the Rocky Mountain States was added, and an initial allotment of bids for each district was negotiated. The NDT Committee sought a way to recognize teams achieving outstanding records throughout the season, and the first-round at-large bids were invented to begin operation in 1971. Initially the Committee proposed a list of 10 major tournaments during the year, the winner of which would get an automatic bid to the NDT; since a team might win more than one tournament, the second place would earn a bid if the winner had already received one. With some modification, this system worked for two years (although there were disagreements over which constituted the top ten tournaments for a particular year), but by 1973 the Committee had changed to the current system--having 16 bids awarded on the basis of a team's full season record.

The early 1970s also saw a shift in tournament format. Occasionally a negative team would want to know something about an affirmative plan in the hope of linking a particular disadvantage. The practice was for the first negative to outline a series of questions to be answered in the second affirmative. During the early 1970s there was some movement to adopt a format which allowed direct questioning of each speaker, and the cross-exam format was adopted for the 1976 NDT; while some invitational tournaments initially kept the old format, it was not long before cross examination debate became dominant.

The Later Years: 1975-1996

Merwyn Hayes of Wake Forest directed the NDT in 1973 and 1974. After his surprise resignation in the fall of 1974, a member of his tab room staff, Mike Hazen of Wake Forest was chosen to direct the NDT, a post he held until 1983. The tournament remained the same size (62 teams; it had been increased from 46 teams in 1973), and used the same method of pairing (high-high power match in odd number rounds; high-low within brackets for even numbered rounds). It also placed the same number of teams into the elimination rounds: 16.

David Zarefsky of Northwestern replaced Hazen as director, and ran the tournament from 1984 until 1989. The size of the tournament moved from 62 teams to 74 teams by 1988 and the elimination rounds expanded to include all teams with five wins and thirteen ballots. This was also the decade of the first experiment with computer tabula tion, and it occurred at the 1988 tournament (Zarefsky interview). Gary Larson had developed a computer program for pairing and judge placement, but it was backed up in the traditional manner. In 1989 the experiment was tried again, but the computer program crashed early, and the tournament was gently removed from machine control.

Several changes took place in the early 1990s when the tournament was directed by Al Johnson. The tournament size was determined by a complex set of formulas, with the number of teams ranging from 68 to 78, the maximum allowed. Six schools could now have a third team qualify to enter the tournament.

The tournament began experimenting again with computer programs, this time with one developed by Rich Edwards of Baylor University (Edwards, Tab-Room-on-the-Mac). The NDT Committee made changes in pairing assumptions, with the number of high-high power matched rounds reduced from three to one.

The 1996 Golden Anniversary NDT used the Edwards' computer program on two computers, with one computer checking the other one. The topic debated was "RESOLVED, that the United States government should substantially increase its security assistance to one or more of the following: Egypt, Israel, Jordan, Palestinian National Authority, Syria."

NDT alumni were invited back to the tournament, and a good number of them visited. Special events were held for alumni, and pages 31-34 of this report are devoted to their activities. Former Senator and Presidential Candidate (and former debater) George McGovern delivered the Keynote Address and then stayed to interact with the participants.

With the Herculean efforts of Bill Southworth of Redlands and Allan Loudon, the tournament host, an extensive and impressive tournament booklet for the 1996 NDT was prepared containing the history, recollections of participants, and a variety of records over the 50 years. Some of those records, with their kind permission have been reproduced in the back of this report (pp. 44-52). Paul Slaphey of the University of Iowa, our "unofficial" NDT photographer, provided a number of the excellent pictures included here. I would also like to thank Rebecca Ford of the University of Kansas for her extensive work in the preparation and design of this book.

During the Golden Anniversary NDT, an exchange debate was held between Junya Marooka (Dokkyo University) and Takeshi Yamamura (University of Tokyo) representing Japan, and Paul Skiermont (University of Kentucky) and Adrienne Brovero (Wake Forest University) representing the United States.

1996 National Debate Tournament Administration

The National Debate Tournament Committee plans and oversees the NDT each year, including the choosing of teams--ranking of first and second round at large applications. While they were too busy for an official group portrait, this picture was taken at their Wake Forest NDT meeting.

1996 Top Speakers

The First Place Speaker Awards went to Sean McCaffity of Northwestern University, presented by Board Treasurer, Lucy Keele. These awards include the Wayne Brockriede First Place Watch, donated by Robert Feldhake (1976 Top Speaker) and the Travelling Tiffany Bowl naming the NDT's Top Speakers. McCaffity was the Second Speaker in 1995.

Second Speaker at the 1996 NDT was Chris LaVigne of Wayne State University, being presented his watch by Board Member Tim Hynes.

Third Speaker was John Hughes of Wake Forest University; Fourth Speaker was Michigan's Scott Hessel.

The 1996 Final Round

Winning debaters David Heidt (Virginia Beach VA) and Kate Shuster (Albuquerque, NM) are pictured with the NDT Championship Sigrid Larmon Trophy as winner of the Golden Anniversary National Debate Tournament. They also received the Permanent First Place Trophy and finalist watches.

The final round of the 1996 NDT took place between Emory University (David Heidt and Kate Shuster) and the University of Iowa (Chris Mutel and Corey Rayburn). Iowa moved into the final round with a 5-0 victory over the University of Michigan (Michael Dickler and Scott Hessel) in the semis; Emory earned their position with a 5-0 decision over Baylor University (Charles Blanchard and Kelly Dunbar) in the semi final round.

In the finals, Emory was affirmative and Iowa negative. Five judges were chosen to observe the fray: John Fritch of Southwest Missouri State, David Hall of Utah, Joe Zompetti of Wayne State, Nate Smith of Northwestern, and David Breshears, North Texas. The decision of the judges was 5-0 for the affirmative team, Emory.

The Second Place team of Chris Mutel (Iowa City, IA) and Corey Rayburn (Fairfax, VA) of the University of Iowa are presented the Walker Permanent trophy for the runner-up by NDT Director Donn Parson. They also received a permanent Second Place trophy and individual watches.

1996 First Round At Large Team

The Northwestern University team of Mason Miller, Lexington, KY and Sean McCaffity, Garland, TX, is shown with the Rex Copeland Memorial Trophy for the top team in the first round at-large balloting. The award, named for the Samford University debater who was killed in 1990, was donated by his parents. Northwestern MM received all first place votes from the NDT Committee.

New Awards

A Championship Coaching Award was instituted in 1995, called the Ovid R. Davis/West Georgia College Award. The watch this year went to Emory's coach: Melissa Maxcy Wade.

The Board of Trustees announced formation of the Lucy Keele Award in honor of her more than twenty year service on the Board and Committee. The first Keele Award went to Donn Parson, NDT Director.

1996 Special Awards and Events

The distinguished speaker for the Golden Anniversary National Debate Tournament was former Senator and Presidential Candidate, George McGovern. He is shown here with Linda and Raymond Byers. Mr. Byers is Manager of the Contribution Program of the Ford Motor Company Fund, one of the generous supporters of the NDT.

Fifty years ago in 1947, the dynamic duo of Scott Nobles and Jerry Sanders won the First National Debate Tournament at West Point.

On behalf of the forensic community, Dallas Perkins presents an electronic award (including printer) to Rich Edwards for his outstanding contribution to the running of American debate Tournaments.

1996 Tab Room

The 1996 NDT tab room was a carbon copy of the 1995 tab room, and included Rich Edwards, the tab program inventor from Baylor, Erik Doxtader, new Tar Heel from North Carolina, Charles Kauffman, legal briefer and master chef from Des Moines, Neil Phillips, plastics entrepreneur from Buffalo, Donn W. Parson, Tournament Director from Kansas, and Pat Ganer, new member of the Board of Trustees, from California.

BAYLOR STAFF MEETING. Rich Edwards, inventor of The Tab-Room-on-the-Mac, explains its features to an intrigued Lee Polk, his Baylor Chair and Head of the NDT Board of Trustees.

Rex Copeland Award, 1990 - 1996

On September 21, 1989, the life of Rex Copeland was brought to a sudden and tragic close. With his death, Samford University lost an outstanding student, and the forensic community lost an excellent debater and friend.

In recognition of Rex's professional and personal qualities, Samford University together with his parents endowed a permanent award in his name. The Rex Copeland Memorial Award is presented annually to the collegiate debate team ranked "Number One" in the First Round, At-Large team selections.

This award recognizes the few who achieve one of the highest honors in the debate community.
